Negotiations have been pending for some time past for the purchase of the O. R. & N, mine, located a short distance from the Iron Mountain, in the Fiat creek district, Missoula county. To-day the deal will be consummated which will transfer the O. R. & N. to a company of responsible Helena men. Dr. M. W. Johnson has held a bond on the O. R. & N., which he has succeeded in placing here. The owners and discovers of the mine, J. M. Hargrave and C. W. Park, arrived in the city yesterday to receive the consideration for which they will sell the property. These gentlemen do not desire to sell out entirely, having much confidence in the future of the mine. Instead they will take a few thousand dol-lars in cash and the balance in shares to be issued by the company organized to de-

When the mine was first located and Dr. Johnson bonded it, the O. R. & N. showed quantities of native silver, and a streak of this native silver is visible in the lead, which is fully three feet wide. When the bond was given the shaft was down fifteen feet; now it is sixty feet deep, from which point a ten-foot cross-cut has been run, showing a fair grade of ore all through the sevelopment. Samples of the first-class ore assayed by A. W. Hand, or this city, ran as high as 1,500 ounces in gold, silver and lead. The gentlemen who are taking hold of the O. R. & N. are very sanguine of development a rich property. of developing a rich property.

The story also states that the boy was rounding up cattle. The article was first published in the Philipsburg Mail. Mr. Hall says he did not take any particular notice of it, but since the story is gaining general circula-tion, he feels that as a matter of history he ild correct it. "The truth of the matsaid Mr. Hall, "is that myself and two partners, Frazer and Jones, were prospecting near Flat creek on the 24th of last August. I found a piece of float at the foot of the mountain, a place where I had to grope my way, and no boy could get in there with a horse. I traced the float to the top of the mountain and found a cropping. I then returned to camp, three miles away. I met Jones on the way and showed the float to him, but he would not look at it a scond time, considering it worthless. it a scond time, considering it worthless. Frazer thought differently, and said it would be worth while looking for the lead. On the tollowing day we went around by Spring gulch and Superior, and reaching Flat creek on the 26 that noon and camped there. We began to search and two hours later Frazer and I found the lead cropping out. Jones and I hound taked off a claim, calling it the Iron Mountain, and while doing this Frazer discovered another lead which he named the Iron Tower, upon which most of the development work has been prosecuted. There wasn't a boy or any other person within thirteen miles of Flat creek at that time."

It is also the intention of that wealthy company to but fifty additional stamps in motion in sourse of time, and then it will be the largest mill of its kind in the world. The output from the mine could easily supply this number now, if they had them, and it is thought they will be put in before the close of the present year. The large store-room with extra supplies of exerything for the mill seems to be a wise precaution, and its stock is continually looked after by a man whose duty it is to see that nothing is neglected or allowed to run out of stock. Three thousand dollars were paid when the bond was made and the deed placed in escrow pending payment of the balance. The fortunate owners were Chas. Shaw, and Messrs. Giogley and Comer, miners residing near Toston. To these gentlemen $12,000, the balance due in cash was paid a few days ago. Shaw has and is still enjoying himself. It is stated he managed to dispose of $1,000 in twenty-four hours. Such is life in the far west. MINING NOTES. A Mr. Rand, of Wardner, has the cor

It was on account of these diggings in a measure that caused the discovery of Last Chance guich, where Helena now stands. So slow has been the march of progress in this section, that should E. L. Bonner, Eddy or Hammond revisit the scenes that were familiar to them in 1864, with the exception of the steamboats on the river they would find but little change. I doubt much if many of the trails are as good to-day as they were twenty-five years ago. But the white man is again taking possession of this part of the northwest, and soon his influence will be felt. The untutored savage must give way to the encroachment of civilization, and these fine bottom lands, now the haunt of the red nomads, will blossom as the rose under the skilful touch of the paleface.
